

MAPA Definition for Direct and Indirect Beneficiaries in Relation to EO Hazards

Direct Beneficiaries:

It includes the number of people who directly get/will get benefit from the hazard area after land release process for a productive, frequent and sustainable activity.

The direct beneficiaries are involved in all or some of the following activities linked to hazard area:

1. Houses or public buildings in released area for permanent or temporary settlement
2. Agriculture land including orchards
3. Transportation (highway, road, street, pathways, bridges etc.) daily
4. Natural resources (collection of firewood, bushes, plants, construction materials, hunting, grazing, springs)
5. Infrastructure (canal, karez, bore holes, wells, local power lines etc.)
6. Recreating (picnic, shrine etc.)
7. Cemetery
8. People who visit historical places in released area daily

Indirect Beneficiaries:

Approximate number of people who somehow may use the released land from the impacted community and or surrounding communities, excluding the direct beneficiaries.
